

One Truth

A familiar shape.
Heart outside the body.
No escape
from the four-walled place
we call “home” —
a nickname for the soul.

Eternal pool.
I must learn not to drown in it.
Constantly keeping my head above the water.
Eyes open—but don’t go blind.